

Police firing range set to get $112,000 makeover

By Jim Herr - September 15, 2017

File photo of the Cheektowaga Police Firing Range on Scott Place. (Jim Herr/Cheektowaga Chronicle)

CHEEKTOWAGA, N.Y. – Work to improve the Cheektowaga Police Department’s firing range off Scott Place will soon begin.

The town board approved Supervisor Diane Benczkowski to enter into a contract with the D.R. Chamberlain Corporation, of Lockport, to perform the work.

Safety baffles will be installed to help provide sound abatement and ballistic protection. The project is said to cost an estimated $112,754.

A new front gate with barbed wire will also be installed by Excel Fence, Inc. of Darien Center, a total cost of $8,180.