Investigators say 29-year-old Travis Green was initially unarmed when he walked into the store in this Buffalo suburb Tuesday afternoon before going back outside to his vehicle, retrieving a pump-action, AR-15-style rifle and firing at least 20 bullets at the building.

Green is charged with attempted murder, assault, criminal use of a firearm, reckless endangerment, unlawful use of body armor and a misdemeanor count of resisting arrest.

Earlier in the morning, she showed up "agitated" at the front desk at Cheektowaga police headquarters on Union Road and yelled at police Chief David Zack and threatened to sue him, Zack said.

Several 911 calls were informing the police department that the shooter was at the Dollar General in Cheektowaga.

"Our philosophy is that we're going to take you out", Zack said, "And we did". The name of his lawyer wasn't immediately available.

Cheektowaga Police respond to a shooting outside the Union Road Dollar General near French Road on November 14th. They took exception to the mother's claim that her son was a good boy, the assistant chief said.

Green's next court appearance is scheduled for November 20 in the Town of Cheektowaga Court.

The Erie County District Attorney's Office in New York State says a man walked into a Dollar General in West Seneca, New York around 2:30 p.m. Tuesday and asked for an application. The man, now unarmed, got up and ran with Pinnavaia and his employee, Christopher Kaufmann, in pursuit. There's no questions these individuals saved lives yesterday.

"I felt I had to do something", Pinnavaia said.

Added Kauffmann: "I don't think it's about being a hero".
