Firefighters fight shed fire on Tudor Road

By Jim Herr - April 23, 2018

Firefighters put water on a Tudor Road shed fire on April 23rd. (Jim Herr/Cheektowaga Chronicle)

CHEEKTOWAGA – Cheektowaga Police Fire Investigators are probing the cause of a shed fire which broke out Monday afternoon on the 100 block of Tudor Road in the Cleveland Hill Fire District.

Firefighters found the fire inside a sealed shed shooting through the roof.

"The homeowner said he hasn't been out there in forever," said Cleveland Hill Fire Department's 1st Assistant Chief David Spahr.

Investigators will be looking into the fire since there is no obvious cause.

The fire department was not aware of road construction in the area, and they were delayed by a minute or two while they navigated their apparatus around.