

WNYMBA trains Cheektowaga Bike Patrol Unit

By Jim Herr - May 31, 2018

GLENWOOD – For two days this week, members of the Western New York Mountain Bicycling Association instructed members of the Cheektowaga Police Bike Patrol Unit at Erie County’s Sprague Brook Park.

The commander of the unit, Lt. Brian Gould approached WNYMBA a few years ago to help build comradery within the unit and gain additional skills and the confidence to handle any situation.

“I think the biggest part is the confidence building. You can get over the trees that are down. You can drive through the creek. Maybe not stuff that we’ll see in Cheektowaga, but when you’re spending five, six, seven hours on a bike and you’re maybe cutting through woods and stuff like that – we do have Stiglmeier Park – you want to have the confidence to drive over some of that stuff,” said Mr. Gould.

Read Cheektowaga Chronicle’s in-depth report on the unit and the WNYMBA training session from last year here.

Cheektowaga Chronicle photos from 2018’s training:

