BEWARE OF SCAM, POLICE WARN PEOPLE POSING AS UTILITY WORKERS

MISHA JAY | June 4, 2018

Cheektowaga Police

A scary situation in Cheektowaga reminds us to make sure we don't let anyone into our homes. Always make sure if something seems wrong, trust your instinct, and contact the police.

According to WGRZ, A Cheektowaga home was recently burglarized after suspects pretended to be utility workers to gain access into the home. The suspects told the resident they needed to check the water pressure. Cheektowaga Police say the incident happened in the neighborhood south of St. Joseph Hospital.

Luckily nobody was hurt, but this is a good reminder to be on the look out for suspicious behavior and always ask to see identification from anyone trying to get into your home.

CHECK OUT THE "PINK BUFFALO" CAMPAIGN

 MISHA JAY | May 31, 2018

I think we can agree that we all want to find a cure for cancer and help all those battling with the disease. One Buffalo company just launched a new campaign to not only raise money, but also raise awareness, for breast cancer.

According to WGRZ, The company 26 Shirts, a well known Queen City charity, teamed up with the local consulting firm IC Woods, and revealed the "Pink Buffalo" campaign. Pink Buffalo's can now start to be seen all over WNY. These Buffalo-shaped lawn ornaments can be purchased below by following the link. Proceeds from the pink Buffalo cut-outs will go the Susan G. Komen Foundation for breast cancer research.

I think this is a great, fun way to let every know that you support a cancer free world and are helping in the fight to end breast cancer. What's even better is being able to put the money in a local, near and dear to our hearts, foundation!

Click here if you'd like to purchase one.
