Woman arrested for credit card theft

The Erie County Sheriff's Office says that tips on social media helped them identify the suspect.

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Rebecca Hatala is accused of stealing a credit card and making unauthorized charges.

On December 2, an individual reached out to Erie County sheriff's deputies saying that their credit card was missing and there were unauthorized charges made to the card.

Deputies retrieved surveillance video from where the card was used and turned it over to detectives.

Through anonymous tips via Facebook and Twitter, investigators were able to identify the suspect as Hatala, 46, of Dunkirk. On December 21, deputies arrested her for criminal possession of a stolen property credit card (felony), identity theft (misdemeanor), and petit larceny (misdemeanor).

Hatala was processed and released on appearance tickets for Orchard Park Town Court.
