LANCASTER, N.Y. (WKBW) — A Cheektowaga man is facing charges after threatening to detonate a fake bomb during an attempted robbery Thursday evening, according to police.

Lancaster police report 39-year-old Jeremy Carr approached the pharmacy, located inside the Tops Market on Transit Road in Lancaster, with a fake bomb and detonator and passed along a note demanding narcotics.

According to police, the pharmacist called police and Carr ran away. Carr was captured by officers behind a nearby building after a brief chase on foot.

Jubilantly Praising God on the streets of NYC!
 Another "clean" scan!
 Thank YOU SO MUCH for praying and standing with us as we continue this journey...one day at a time, one prayer at a time.
 It all sounds cliché, but it's true.
 All we have is this moment and what is right in front of us.
 It's so easy to get caught up in the "what if's" of tomorrow and totally ignore the gift of RIGHT NOW!
 I was worried about the outcome of the scans. What if...
 And the Lord reminded me of the fact that no matter what the outcome, no matter what the result, I am loved.
