University at Buffalo to release guidelines on Greek-letter fraternities

UB will hold a press conference Wednesday afternoon to discuss new guidelines for Greek-letter fraternities.

BUFFALO, N.Y. — The University at Buffalo will hold a press conference Wednesday afternoon to discuss new guidelines for Greek-letter fraternities.

The guidelines come after a four-month review conducted by UB faculty, students and staff following the death of a student in a possible hazing incident off campus in April.

“The committee’s report provides proactive and prudent steps the university and its Greek organizations will take in order to reduce the incidents of hazing and to promote greater accountability among students and the Greek organizations themselves,” A. Scott Weber, vice president for student life at the University at Buffalo said.

Sebastian Serafin-Bazan, 18, was a freshman from Port Chester, New York in Westchester County.

While the police investigation is still on-going, sources tell 2 On Your Side Bazan went into cardiac arrest during a suspected hazing activity at a home on Custer Street occupied by members of the Sigma Pi Fraternity.
